LEMON BATH POPULAR.

A London dispatch says the "lemon bath" is the latest summer craze—one, likely to achieve much popularity with those who delight in new sensations and have the leisure to pursue them. Many virtues are claimed for it.

"It is a valuable aid to beauty," a Bond-street beauty specialist declares "and the custom has, I hear, been adopted by royalty. Queen Wilhelmina of Holland borrowed the idea from the Dutch ladies, and attributes a great deal of the satiny softness of skin to the refining and cleansing influence of the lemon baths in which she has been indulging for some weeks. In the advice of the wife of one of her colonial governors.

"The proper way to prepare the lemon bath is as follows: Five lemons, cut into slices, are left to soak in a basin of water for half an hour. The water drawn into the bath must be moderately hot, but not warm enough to be enervating, and the lemon water is added to it slowly, the whole being stirred vigorously the while, as in the mode when making cocoa. There is no objection to a few slices of the lemon peel being allowed in the mixture.

"As a great invigorator the lemon bath cannot be improved upon," said a second specialist, "and many of my clients are indulging daily during the heat wave. The lemon juice thus introduced into the warm, soapy bath has a most soothing, refreshing and soothing effect.

"The above recipe is an excellent one to follow, with just this addition. The lemon solution, even five lemons to one basin of water, is too strong for the face and neck. It would be softening of course, but it would be apt to render the skin yellowish if indulged in freely. To obviate this a tumbler should be taken out, and to this added a few drops of rosewater. This mixture must be kept separate, and used afterward to sponge the face and neck. As little as possible of the bath water should touch the neck, and none the face."

THE MURDER OF HAZEL DREW.

A dispatch from Troy, N. Y., says what is considered the most important point yet developed in the Teal pond murder mystery came into possession of the police late yesterday, when county Detective Kaye found the suit case which Hazel Drew carried the day before she was murdered, and for which the police have been conducting an exhaustive search.

From articles found in the suit case it is established, the police say, that Hazel Drew did not intend to go to Averill Park on the day she was murdered, and the startling theory is advanced that she was murdered in Troy and taken either by carriage or automobile to Teal pond, where her body was cast into the stagnant waters.

There is much to bear out this theory, and it appears that the authorities are nearing a solution of the mystery. In the first place, the murdered girl's black leather handbag, containing all of her money except 5 cents, was found in the suit case. The fare to Averill Park, near Teal pond, is 20 cents. While this find was made in Troy, detectives at Teal pond found a glove which was worn by the girl, and in the finger of it was a 5-cent piece.

A reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Miss Drew was offered by Rensselaer court yesterday.

Taft Must go on the Stump.

Hot Springs, Va., July 15.—"Taft must stump Indiana," says Merrill Moore, an attorney of Indianapolis and classmate of the candidate who arrived here today with a cry for help from the west. Moore came to Hot Springs first fifteen minutes talk with Taft on a subject he declares he would not trust to correspondence and is apparently full of fear that republican chances of success there are in the great danger. Kern's nomination for the vice-presidency by the democratic Moore declares, makes the danger in his state all the greater. He holds that the only salvation for the republicans there is to have Senator Hemenway in charge of the Chicago headquarters and for the candidate of the republicans to deliver speeches in Indianapolis and three or four of the other Indiana cities.

Twenty-Five Cents is the Price of Peace.

Leaped To Her Death.

New York, July 15.—Overcoming a nurse after a desperate battle, Mrs. Lena Richards, aged 31 years, of Jersey City, leaped early today from a third floor window of Bellevue Hospital and was crushed to death on the concrete pavement below. Mrs. Richards, who was suffering from epilepsy, acted so strangely on her admittance to the hospital yesterday that she was given into the charge of a special nurse. Early today the woman asked for a drink of water and as her guardian turned to replace the empty cup she leaped from bed and ran to the window. The nurse fought hard, but the woman's gown tripped her and she was seen leaping to the window sill jammed. She was dead when picked up.

Dr. Witt's Witch Hazel Salve is especially good for piles. Recommended and sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.
